

Review Policy

Reviewers are themselves authors, researchers or sometimes editors in their own right. Reviewers are in fact colleagues and fellow scholars / researchers who wish to directly contribute an integral part of the process. With this in mind, reviewers play an essential part in scholarly publishing.

Unnayan has a blind peer review where the names of the authors are hidden from the Reviewer. This is the traditional method of reviewing, and is, by far, the most common type.

The suggestions given by the expert Review team are forwarded to the authors and they are expected to amend the paper within the stipulated time period.
